Arts And The Artists

By Mary-Madeleine Riddle

Carmel, as a community, is making art a bridge to international friendship. You remember how the schools participated in the Warshawsky show, at the Gallery, with a lecture in French. Now, for the very special evening of March 24, everyone is getting re-acquainted with India. That is the date for the lecture by Mr. and Mrs. Ajit Mookeejee on Indian art, with slides, and songs by Mrs. Mokeejee (grand-niece of the poet Tagore.) So the social science class at the high school is studying India in preparation, and so are the arts classes. Don't miss this! Better check with the Carmel Woman's Club for tickets, as there is sure to be a record crowd; the cost is a modest 85c, the hour 8:00 p. m., at the Carmel Art Association Gallery.

All this makes nice team work with the series of lectures and films, Know Your Neighbors, given each Monday evening in the Walter Colton School auditorium, under sponsorship of the Monterey Peninsula College and the Army Language School at the Presidio of Monterey.

Local history is by no means neglected at the Association. Not only will the Majorcan exhibit on March 26, 27, 28, give us some more information on Fr. Serra and others important in California, but members are planning to participate in the coming Centennial celebration in August by producing an exhibit of paintings and sculptures based on the theme and dramatic events of Monterey's early history. Aid in research will be given the artists by D. R. Jeffers, Monterey Public Library director and chairman of research for the Centennial, and Nelly Montague has copies of the pageant script to loan you.

You're missing fun if you don't get in on some folk-dancing. There is a group twice a week at Sunset as part of the Adult School Education Project (which means for free, of course): Mondays and Thursdays, the latter for beginners. Wednesday evenings there's a group at the Monterey Peninsula College. These, under the fancy name Los Bailedores de Montrey, will be part of the Centennial celebration, and are clamoring for more members. You can go alone, or with a partner.

Have you been wanting to sing? The Cypress Singers, women's choir society sponsored by the Pacific Grove evening adult school is calling for more sopranos; phone 7896. And John Burr is thinking of getting a group together in Carmel, so give him a ring if you are interested.

And if you've heard a friend or six rave about the superb performance given by the Pasquier Trio and would be interested in chamber music concerts, write box Q in Carmel and ask to be put on a list to be notified next time a similar treat is coming this way.

SOFTBALL MEETING

A meeting of The Pine Cone softball team will be held tonight at Ricketts' Sporting Goods Shop on San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth. All members and prospective members invited to attend.

Portrait of Donna Louise Brooks, Pacific Grove, which won first award for Ed Brooks, her father, in the black and white division of the Padre Trails Camera Club Monthly Contest. Brooks also won third and fourth honorable mention in the same class. Second place was won by Mrs. Florence Sullivan.

Winners in the color-transparencies division were: Miss Doris Schmiedell, first; George Herzenberg, Miss Beatrice Ralston and Ernest Victorine, honorable mention. Frank Shropshire was judge.

The club holds its mid-monthly meeting tomorrow night at Forest Hills Hotel.

Red Cross Drive Past Third Mark Of $11,707 Goal

Matthew C. Jenkins, chairman of the Red Cross Fund Drive, reports that although only a small percentage of reports had been turned in by the middle of the week, the one-third mark in reaching the $11,707 goal has been passed. In line with the policy started last year, there have been no letters sent to resident contributors so that the campaign workers may have the opportunity of securing a contribution from every home visited. Because of the heavy rains this year, many workers have been unable to complete their calls by Monday, as originally planned, so that the time for home solicitation has been extended until today.

If your contribution has not been called for as yet, please mail it to the Red Cross or bring it to the chapter office on Dolores street near Eighth.

The goal of $11,707, which in-

School Board Takes Stand On Highway Widening Proposal

Official objection to any state action to widen the highway in front of Carmel High School was voiced at the Tuesday night meeting of the board of trustees and the state highway division will be informed of the stand taken. It was pointed out that in order to make a four-lane highway at that point, the state would have to acquire high school property that is already in use and necessary.

A request from Stolte Inc., contractors, for an extension of time on the new swimming pool was tabled for further discussion.

A report on the citizens' committee on school redistricting was made by Peter Ferrante; Mrs. Marjorie McCausland was appointed principal of the new Dolores School and the resignation of Miss Neill Rush was accepted as of June 30 of this year. Miss Rush has accepted a teaching position in Hawaii.

Poety Contest

The Carmel Pine Cone announces a Poetry Contest to close June 1st, 1949. Poems should be short, not more than about 14 lines in length. Any number may be submitted and all entries become the property of the Carmel Pine Cone for possible use from time to time. A prize of $25 will be awarded to the winner, with a second prize of $10, and two third prizes of $5 each.

Entries should be plainly marked Poetry Contest and addressed to Carmel Pine Cone, Box G-1, Carmel, California.

Judges will be chosen later. No manuscripts will be returned.

More Kites Than Ever Scheduled To Take Off In Festival Tomorrow

More youngsters than ever before are expected to turn out for Carmel's annual kite festival to be held tomorrow at the high school and which will be preceded by the traditional parade. The parade will begin around 1:30 at Sunset School and will go past the home of the late Dr. Willis White, at Camino Real and Ninth, original sponsor of the event.

City officials pointed out, however, that in case of rain the festival will be postponed until the following Saturday.

Students at Sunset School have been busy working for months on their kites under the direction of Ernest Calley and a great variety of sizes and designs will be on view for the event.

Prizes for winners in the groups, donated by the Lions Club, include carpenters' equipment, cameras, Xacto sets, knives, trays and many other useful articles.

Judges for the event will be: high flying, Cliff Cook; prettiest, Jacqueline Stewart and Ellen Leeds; best made, Lou Allaire and Rollo Payne, and 200 foot contest, Gene Ricketts.

Leading the parade will be Chief of Police Roy Fraties, and his car will be followed by fire department trucks, Red Cross ambulance, cars with other city officials, and city trucks to transport the children who are not riding with their parents.

Fred Francisco's Car Was Equipped With Police Siren

Just why Robert Patterson, alias Freddy Francisco and many other monikers should have a car illegally equipped with a police siren is a matter of conjecture, but the fact is that his chauffeur, Robert Saunders, was arrested Tuesday night by members of the State Highway Patrol for the offense. It was said that Saunders was using the siren at the time he was cited. Although it was not mentioned in the citation, the car was also said to have been equipped with illegal police lights.

Saunders was driving a car registered to Patterson, whose home was listed as San Francisco. Both are living at the present time at Carmel Highlands.

Patterson or Francisco has been living in this area since the sensational expose of his past record a few months ago. His past was dug up by a little-known Hollywood night club paper and was later publicized in Time magazine. It included a long record of prison terms for a variety of offenses.

Patterson, up until the time of the expose, wrote a column for the Hearst-owned San Francisco Examiner and he used up a great deal of his space on diatribes against well-known people. Carmel, Big Sur and Carmel Valley were all given the "treatment" in a series of articles which he wrote last summer.

Saunders is to appear before Judge Ray Baugh Monday.

Anne Ashley To Sing For Musical Art Club On Sunday

Anne Ashley, coloratura soprano, is to be the next attraction for the Musical Art Club. She has sung under the baton of Gaetano Merola who seems to have an unfailing ear for discovering young singers that are going places in his and other opera companies. Her repertoire includes arias from some thirty maajor operas and several complete opera roles. The diminutive Miss Ashley is, however, at the same time a specialist in the "intime" recital and knows unerringly how to suit and please each new and different audience. She has appeared before the San Francisco Musical Club and the Pacific Musical Club besides having splendid reviews from the Chicago Tribune and the Christian Science Monitor.

Next Sunday's concert is to be a costume recital and will be interspersed with piano solos by her accompanist, William Keller. The club feels fortunate in being able to secure so delightful a setting as the Carmel Women's Club for the concert which is the second of the season. The time is 3 p. m.

Planning Commission Has Split Vote On Tree Issue

Difference over the request of Robert W. Young for permission to remove a pine tree, obstructing the approach to his garage at the northeast corner of Junipero and First streets, resulted in a split vote at the planning commission meeting Wednesday afternoon in city hall.

Hurd Comstock, P. A. McCreery and Ernest Bixler voted yes. Donald Craig and Mrs. Talbert Josselyn, no. The tree is already damaged and leaning against a telephone pole, the tree committee reported when it recommended its removal, pointing out that the pole is to be moved with probable further damage to the tree. Roots of the tree will have to be cut to give access to the driveway, so that the tree could not survive in any case, they said. The tree committee further recommended that when the permission for removal is granted, Young be given permission to replace the tree with an oak on his property, rather than by a pine on city property, as is customary in such cases. Reason for the recommendation, they said, was that the nature of the terrain in that neighborhood made it impractical to plant another tree on city property. Craig and Mrs. Josselyn objected on the grounds that the city would have no control over a new tree planted on private property; also, Craig, as a matter of policy, objects to removal of trees that are still living.

City council had turned the matter over to the planning commission for study at its last meeting.

The commission approved Charles E. May's plans for additional

KING CITY-CARMEL TEAMS CLASH AT BARDARSON FIELD TODAY

The opening skirmish of the 1949 CCAL baseball race will get underway at Carmel High School field this afternoon when the King City Mustangs will attempt to ride herd on the Carmel Padre pastimers. Trying to pick the winner is a hopeless task as both teams are untried this season, and the lineups are dotted with inexperienced performers. The valley boys always field a fair collection of horsehide artists and they have a good nucleus left over from their 1949 squad. Lack of seasoned pitchers and weak hitting appear to be handicaps belaboring both the Padres and the Mustangs.

Gene Vandervort and Henry Overin will share the hurling chores for the locals, with Vandervort drawing the starting assignment. Both chuckers have a fair assortment of stuff on the ball and their control is above average. Overin slips them in from the port side, while Vandervort is an orthodox flinger. They will also share the first base duties when not occupied with hurling chores. Walt Frey, Bob Updike, Dick Weer, Stu Emery, Paul Artellan, Brent Millen, and Bill Daniels will battle it out for the other infield spots. Art Harber is the only experienced catcher on the squad, but Don Canham and Bill Daniels are pressing him for the starting spot. Lee Laugenour, Eric Short, Denicio Narvaez, Neils Reimers, Delfo Giglio, Jim Harget, Walt Shaw, and Ted Nash comprise the flychaser corps.

ABALONE LEAGUE OPENER SET FOR APRIL 3RD

Ancient, young, and medium softball enthusiasts can start warming up the old soupbones because the Carmel Abalone League is organized for another year. Sunday, April 3, has been set for the beginning fracas of the popular fun sport. Women, men, and kids are invited to participate in the six-week schedule of softball as she should be played. To defray expenses for bats, bases, balls, and secretarial work, each adult is assessed a buck and each youngster gets in for a quarter. Registration for play will start immediately and those interested can sign up with Mike Balazs at the Quality Market, Cliff Cook at The Pine Cone, or any of the clerks at Staniford's Drug Store.

A practice session will be held on March 28 when players will be assigned to teams and permanent captains appointed. As in previous years, the games will be played at the high school field. Consideration was given to playing at Sunset, but the appealing grass of Bardarson Field won out.

Softball enthusiasts are asked to sign up as soon as possible in order that a line may be had on player assignment. Each team is ordinarily equipped with 15 players on the roster so there will be adequate subs for those with aching muscles.

PADRE NETSTERS AND DIVOT DIGGERS TACKLE SANTA CRUZ TOMORROW

With a terrifically green tennis team and a golf team anchored by last year's CCAL medalist, Jim Hare, Coaches Reyburn and Westover will take their cahrges on an apprehensive invasion of Santa Cruz tomorrow morning. Golfers will tee off at 9 o'clock on the Pasatiempo course, while racquet wielders will start festivities at 10 o'clock.

Harlan Reyburn will try to find the tennis answer from the following candidates: Lee Laugenour, Elton Clark, Francis Lloyd, Alan Reyburn, Joe Diekemper, Stewart Emery, Bill Marquardt, Howard DeAmaral, Ken Kiley, Bob Burgess, Bob Campbell, and Lannie Doolittle. Laugenour and DeAmaral are the only players with previous team experience. Stu Emery has played some tournament tennis and has the qualifications for a first rate court artist. All the other boys are neophytes at the game and will have to rely on hard work and spirit to overcome the experience of the other schools.

John Westover will try to impart his synchronized swing to the following golfers: Jim Hare, John Monroe, Gary Shaw, Peter Lyon, Kurt von Meier, and Jim Thompson. Hare, Lyon, and Shaw were team members last year and know their way around the CCAL golf courses.

HISTORICAL TRACK MEET AT HS OVAL TOMORROW

The first interschool track meet ever held at the Carmel High School will take place tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock, if the weather man sees fit to cooperate with the ambitious track managers. Managers Mike Dormody, Ronald Stoney, and Bruce Robison have combed out most of the wrinkles in the quarter-mile track and have the jumping pits in shape for soft landings. Lack of a straightaway has hindered the Padres from having visiting teams at the plant, but most of the other schools are in just as bad shape this year. Gonzales will be the visiting school and their team has plenty of classy performers.

Coach Howard Byrne has been juggling combinations all week in an effort to fill the right events to upset the loaded Spartans. Gonzales has the top sprinter, weight man, and broad jumper in the league, and they are well balanced in all the other events. Coach Byrne will rely on speedy Dick Gargiulo to hold off the spring challenge of the visitors, while Dick Taplin and Gene Vandervort will try to slow up the husky Spartan weight throwers. Dick Weer, Denicio Narvaez, Henry Overin, and Howard DeAmaral expect to give the Gonzales distance runners a chase for the honors, while timber-toppers Tom Handley, Pete Berg, Legare McNeill, and Jim Moran could grab their share of the hurdle points. Pete Lyon and Jack Belangee have the ability to make the visiting quarter-milers hustle. In the field events, Steve Whitaker, Eric Short, Birney Adams, Keith McKinzie, and Dan Holmes could break in for points. A potentially strong relay team of Al Greene, Aram Tootelian, Jack Belangee, Legare McNeill, and Dick Gargiulo could lower the school record in the 880 yard baton event.

If the competitors don't forget to turn and wind up in the canyon, Saturday's meet should prove very interesting and keenly competitive. A small, but select, band of Padre lightweights will try to stand off the very good Gonzales limited tracksters. The valley school has always had potent lightweight teams and this year is no exception. Only nine boys qualfied for the lightweight squad at Carmel this year. Leading the nine sprouts will be Ed Goodrich, a letter winner last year, and Jerry Robison, a fine 1320 runner. Stu Emery, Brent Millen, Bud Grant, Alan Reyburn, Jim Thompson, Kurt von Meier, David Claghorn, Mickie Frisbie, and Paul Artellan will have to carry the load for the little Padres.

LOCAL WOMEN SIGN UP

Local women who have already signed up for the Pebble Beach Championship Golf Tournament for Women, April 6-10, include last year's champion, Mary Sargent, Pebble Beach, Mrs. J. D. Thorn, Jr., Carmel, Mrs. Cory Briggs, Del Monte, Mrs. Richard Osborne and Mrs. Harry Hunt, Pebble Beach.

CYO AND VALLEY TEAMS FINISH SEASON

In the last basketball game of the season between teams from the Catholic Youth Organization and the Carmel Valley Teen-Agers, the CYO lightweights defeated the valley squad by a score of 40 to 20. High scorer for the Carmel group was Mellen with 13 points, followed by Branson with nine points. Valley high man was Robison with 11 points and Danielson with six.

In the heavyweight division, the Valley team was the victor with the close score of 34 to 31. Menezes was high man with 17 for the CYO, while Lee chalked up 13 for the Valley. In this game, the playing of Frank Flores and Richard Lee was outstanding.

For the season Carmel won 19 games and lost 11. High scorers for the heavyweights were Menezes 165; McKenzie 111; Meyers 73, and Boutet 62.

Lightweight high scorers were: DeAmaral 94, Mellen 63, Branson 54, and Ricketson 23.

The groups will start baseball soon.

Psycho-analyst To Discuss Germany For Literature Group

A Psycho-Analyst's View of Present-day Germany will be the subject of discussion at Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte's current literature group Tuesday evening, when Dr. Walter W. Marseille of San Francisco comes to Carmel especially to address this group. He will arrive on the Del Monte and will be driven straight to room 11 of Sunset School, and for this reason the session will open a few minutes later than the usual 7:30.

Dr. Marseille, who studied at the Universities of Munich, Berlin, Heidelberg and Vienna, is a Freudian who practices in San Francisco, but he recently flew to Germany for discussions with the leaders of the political parties in Germany. He has returned with first- hand information about the obstacles which the German people must overcome before they can resuscitate their nation. Before and during the Hitler regime Dr. Marseille was a member of the Socialist underground, and he has continued his continental contacts during his 11 years of residence in this country. Dr. Marseille is at present the center of discussion among some of the top-rank scientists in the United States because of his plan to enforce peace through World Government, anad he lectured on this subject at Princeton University the day before his flight across the Atlantic last December.

Visitors are welcome to come to room 11 and meet Dr. Marseille.

HI CHATTER

By Nancy Page

At a special student body meeting early this week, reports were heard from the various delegates to the recent CCAL conference in Salinas. Summaries of the activities of the several discussion groups were presented by Joan Daniels, Nancy Brown, Erick Short, Frank Richey, Janice Hatton, Nancy Page, and Kathie von Meier. Other CHS representatives to the conference included Elton Clark, Aram Tootelian, Edelen Cory, Garry Shaw, Laurel Hildebrand, Steve Whitaker, John Riebe, and Miss Viola Knoche, faculty sponsor.

It has been planned by the CCAL conference delegates to hold an annual all-league dance, to which students from each of the ten league schools would be invited. Watsonville will launch the plan with the first of the dances to be held on April 9 of this year. Bids will be sold by individual schools, and expenses will be divided equally among all schools participating.

Last week saw nearly all CHS students being given the tuberculin skin test at the school by the Monterey County Health Department. Readings of the tests to determine the presence of TB germs were taken after two days, and results were reported to parents.

Carmel High School seniors recently voted after several close ballotings to wear navy blue caps and gowns with white tassels at graduation time in June. Running a near second were the gray caps and gowns with maroon tassels. Individual measurements for the graduation robes are now being taken by a committee which includes Jackie Briggs, Connie Melchior, Nancy McGill, and Herb Riebe.

Tomorrow is the date set for the annual spring convention of the Central District of the California Scholarship Federation, this year to be held at Asilomar. Carmel is responsible for the luncheon and noon-time entertainment for 300-400 delegates. Local members of the general planning committee of the three Peninsula schools include Jennefer Lloyd, president of the Carmel chapter, Kathie von Meier, and Joan Daniels. Mrs. Elise Beaton is the faculty sponsor of our group.

Spring activities are taking over the girls' sports world, with the volleyball tournament just getting under way. There were enough sign-ups to support two teams per class, and captains elected include Ardith Morrisseau and Joyce Bannerman, seniors; Bobby Sapsis and Carol Bedau, juniors; Donna Douglas and Sue Smith, sophomores; and Janet Huffman and Julia Graves, frosh. Volleyball manager is Sue McCloud. The tennis ladder boasts over 50 names, and matches are just beginning to be challenged. This year's tennis is under Jennifer Lloyd.

The popular mixed badminton tournament is being held again this year with first round matches in the throes of being played. Signups, which ended Wednesday, resulted in a large number of students turning out for the noon-time tournament.

The blue won out, 31-24, and navy is to be the color of caps and gowns worn at the June graduation of CHS's class of 1949. A hotly contested battle raged for over a week between navy blue caps and gowns or grey with red tassles. Early ballotings resulted in tie votes each time, and it looked as if the class was doomed to graduate in gym suits or something equally drastic. Then navy blue gained a lead of a few votes, and finally a decision was reached. So when the '49'ers march down the aisles of Sunset Auditorium to the strains of Pomp and Circumstance, they'll be clad in blue—every one of them.

AWVS NEEDS HELP

The American Women's Voluntary Services need assistance with their new project, the exchange shop which opened Tuesday at 707 Del Monte avenue in Seaside.

All kinds of clean, salable articles are needed to stock the store, including wearing apparel, records, books, toys, china and all types of household equipment and furniture. These may be delivered to the shop between 11 a. m. and 4 p. m. daily except Sunday, or for collection you may call any of the following committee members: Mrs. E. W. Cochrane, Carmel 1955-W; Mrs. James W. Moore, Carmel 585-M; Mrs. Howard C. Murphy, Carmel 1330W; Mrs. A. Gordon Bagley, Carmel 1780-W; Mrs. Malcolm Cox, Carmel 1186-R; Mrs. Richmond K. Turner, Monterey 5148; Mrs. Francis Vossler, Monterey 4169, and Mrs. Charles Sargent, Monterey 8090.

The shop should serve a long-established need in the area, and, in addition, help the AWVS in raising funds towards its many worthwhile welfare projects.

Arms And The Man Opens At Playhouse Monday, March 28

George Bernard Shaw's Arms and the Man will come to the Golden Bough Playhouse on Monday, March 28, and for the three succeeding Mondays. It will be enacted by the drama division of the Carmel Adult School, under the direction of Lee Crowe.

The cast includes many already known to the Golden Bough audiences and some making their first appearances. Raina will be played by Gwen Callum who played in Kind Lady. Ruth Marion McElroy (Madame Petkoff) will be remembered in the production of Time of Your Life, as will Ken Smith, who plays the part of Major Petkoff. The alternate for this part will be Jack Walsh, who was another who appeared in Time of Your Life.

Louka will be played by June Frank who makes her first appearance as does David Eldridge (Nicola.) The alternate for Louka is to be Cay Drachnik. Larry Rose who appeared in the production of Mrs. Moonlight will be Major Sergius Saranoff, and the Russian officer will be Willard Branson, who has just finished Lady Windermere's Fan at the First Theater in Monterey.

Arms and the Man will follow Edward Kuster's present highly successful Winslow Boy which has already played to three capacity houses and is facing a sell out for the last performance next Monday, March 21.

STILWELL ROAD

On Friday, March 25, the class will meet in room 11 at 7:30 p. m. for a general meeting and lecture, with color transparencies by members. Any photographer is welcome to bring his work to show and be discussed.

Both meetings are open to the public. The class is under the direction of Leota Tucker.

March 15, 1949

Dear Wilma Cook and
Pine Cone Staff:

Bill Dorman and I want to thank you for all the help you have given us during the past month following the unfortunate accident in which Bill so nearly lost the sight of his left eye from Bee-Bee shot.

To prevent a similar accident for other children, including my own, has become a determined "cause" to me. There seems to be, two groups of opinion on the subject of guns for children. One group approves of giving firearms to children, and the other group feels we should pass a law, whereby firearms, bows and arrows, or sling shots are not only confiscated from minors but parents of children found in possession of toys which can result in death, or loss of eyesight [illegible] minimum of $500 and may be given six months' jail sentence depending upon the circumstances and the discretion of the Judge.

This law is in existence in many communities. The State of California, unfortunately, regards seriously only the responsibility of an adult who allows a minor to drive an automobile, therefore I, as the mother of the boy injured in the accidental shooting, am legally responsible for emergency bills which will total almost a thousand dollars, by the time we finish going to the eye specialist.

Due to the phenomenal healing of Bill's retina, which is no longer in danger of displacing, we need not dread an expensive operation for a period of six months, as Dr. Messier thought might be possible for some weeks following his emergency care of Bill. But we must go to the doctor once a month for some time, and then go to the doctor yearly for examination as there will be some impairment of vision for a long time, due to the violent hemorrhages suffered.

We want it clearly understood, Bill and I, that we feel no animosity or a shot fired from a gun that could so easily have been in the hands of his brother, or any one of some eight children all playing in our yard or near it when the accident occurred. But we do want to see a law passed which will make such an accident impossible in this community.

Again, many thanks to you all, and to the friends and classmates who helped me and Bill in countless ways. Our heartfelt gratitude goes particularly to Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Sullivan, who drove us to the hospital, helped me through the first terrible week's nursing and in every way led the procession of kindly assistance which was our geat privilege to receive. Neither my children nor I realized how deeply our roots have grown into Carmel.

We cannot put into words the gratefulness we feel.

Sincerely,
Carol J. Dorman,
Billy, Terry and Johnnie

Section 683 (e) of Article 4 was incorporated with other articles of the Carmel Ordinance Code April 15, 1940, although many of the articles had been in effect long before. This particular section, Chief of Police Roy Fraties says, goes back as far as he can remember.

"That it shall be unlawful for any person within the corporate limits of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea to discharge any firearms or any weapon or mechanical appliance of any character whatsoever, by means of which any bullet, shot, stone, dart or any projectile shall be propelled, sprung or thrown from one place to another."

The police impound any weapons found being used within the city limits; they have at the office of the department at present a collection of B-B guns and bows and arrows, and state that upon more than one occasion they have seized sling-shots.

It is Chief Fraties' opinion that a law holding parents responsible for damage done with weapons in the hands of their children would have to be passed by the state legislature; that the city is not empowered to pass such an ordinance.—W. C.

Editor Pine Cone,
Dear Editor,

I am but a passer by in your lovely community. While visiting here I have enjoyed the Pine Cone and wish to congratulate the community on such an outstanding sheet.

I have especially enjoyed Kippy Stuart's garden column. Her simplicity and encouragment to the beginner is refreshing, and the world can see she does not wear a "high hat".

Before I leave these parts, I would like to express my opinion on the criticism in letters for the editor column in the March 4th Pine Cone of Mrs. Stuart's article on acacia trees. Only a very selfish person could wish the rest of the world to conform to inhibitions such as expressed by A.S. Why the anonymity? If criticism is in order, Mrs. Stuart, who writes under her full name, deserves the same courtesy from her protagonist.

To my way of thinking, that criticism by A. S. is pretty small potatoes.

Mrs. Stuart's advice "you can't go wrong on planting acacia", is valid and true. I have found the rest of her garden articles damn good advice. Kippy Stuart is direct and to the point and does not ramble all over the place as do so many so-called garden experts. I take my hat off to Kippy Stuart. Carmel is fortunate in having her homely, down-to-earth weekly advice.

Sincerely,
Aza L. Smithers,

Ed. Note: We make a fetish of not printing complimentary letters to the Pine Cone. Instead, we treasure them in our bosom for uplift of morale. But this is different. Ninety-nine percent of the puff is for Kippy. —Wilma Cook.

Dear Mr. Editor,

I wish to call your attention to the depredations of undiscipilined children, running through my and neighboring premises, across gardens and into places where they have no business nor right to go, destroying property in their reckless passage. To be awakened before seven o'clock in the morning, by a doorbell rung without explanation, is also an irritation to old and infirm persons. A word to parents by police may be necessary to end the nuisance of which I am complaining, but I hope not.

Yours respectfully,
(Miss) Emeline Harrington.

Dear Mrs. Cook:

I want to thank you for the series of articles by Mr. Warshawsky. Nothing I have ever read about student life in Paris has given me so much pleasure. Much that has been written has been full of exaggeration, characterized by an affectation of alluring iniquity, and it is delightful to have here the record of a normal young man developing into a fine artist. Every week I look forward to the next installment.

And Hooray! for Kippy Stuart and the allergies!

Sincerely yours,
Eloise Carwyle.

FRIENDS GREET RUSS BOHLKE

A large group of friends and former classmates were on hand to greet Russ Bohlke, injured U.C. football player and former Hartnell star, when he passed through Salinas late Tuesday night, February 22, according to the latest issue of the Panther Sentinel.

Bohlke was on his way to the Veterans Hospital in Van Nuys, where paralytic cases receive special attention by the army, and was accompanied by his father, Raymond Bohlke.

Russ appeared cheerful and waved and smiled at the rooting section. He said that letters and visits from his friends made the time move a lot faster. Helping pass the time during his convalescence, too, is the television set contributed by the U.C. Student body.

Carmel's American Legion plans a big party on March 26 in honor of Russ.

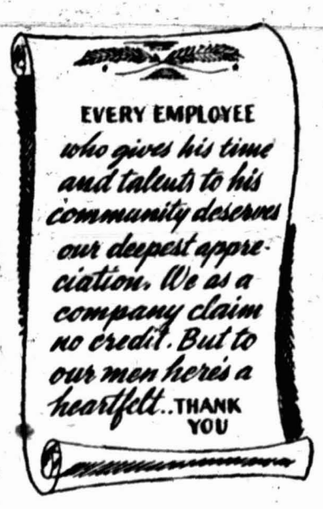
We'd like you to meet a nice guy

Here's Walt Storch of Oakland—Scout Master, Santa Claus, Red Cross Instructor . . . the pal and hero of more than a thousand kids. Like other P. G.-and E. employees in scores of California towns, Walt has a civic hobby: his is helping children grow up. He has trained teen-age troopers for 21 years, shared their problems, attended their summer camps, led them on hiking and fishing trips. He contributes his own time generously to these activities. We're mighty proud of Walt Storch and other employees like him. They're the kind of men who make every town Boys' Town.

Year-round safety training qualifies P. G. and E. men to teach boys how to save lives. Our employees all over the system help Scouts earn merit badges in first-aid, safety and life-saving.

Red Cross Chapters and local clubs and groups share in this safety schooling. Many P. G. and E. men work closely with schools, churches, safety councils and volunteer fire departments.



EVERY EMPLOYEE

My brother and I were walking down a path when we saw something thaat looked like an Indian kiva. We were surprised as it was unusual to find something like that around here. It was some time later we found a deer antler. Then we saw a deer. It was very unusual.—Robert Boylin.

My father said we could go to Yosemite on March 13. Then my mother got sick, and Jon was getting a cold so we couldn't go. However, we are going Sunday after next, we hope. We are going to get up at 5 a. m., Dad says. We are going to borrow a sled from a friend we know. I hope there is no blizzard there. We will have fun.—Michael Raggett.

We are studying about wild flowers. Some of the children in our class brought quite a few of them. We also have to bring some tall jars. We have brought lupines, buttercups and many others. Our teacher told us that we must not pick many flowers that are growing by the roadside.

—Jane Tholman.

My mother is at Boulder Dam. She is sending toys to Ashley and me. Ashley and I have fun.

—John Morse.

George and I went on a hike. He showed me the way. We had a good time. We bought some candy. When we saw people, we ducked.

—Mike Sommer.

My aunt brought us some avocadoes. There was a very big one, and I gave that avocado to Mrs. Kohner.—Ethelynd Walls.

Mrs. Jordan's Seventh Grade

Mr. Calley is our shop teacher. We work in the shop for two 40-minute periods every week. Our project now is making benches and tables. After we finish our first project we may start a tray, work with clay or make anything we choose.

We have all sorts of tools including an electric saw, an electric drill, and a lathe.

At night Mr. Calley has a class for adults and on Monday after school, he has a special class for people who wish to go to hhop and work.—Sally Meyer.

During our shop period Allen Knight and I work with the clay grinding machine. Mr. Calley has buckets of dry scraps of clay. We take the dry pieces and put them in the top of the clay grinder and break them down with a mallet as they go through the machine. This clay is ground up to dust-like particles and pours out into cans. After the cans are filled up, they are dumped into an old-fashioned washing machine which, instead of washing clothes, mixes clay. This powdered clay is mixed with water and when it is very thick, it is taken out and put into barrels and dried in ithe air until it is ready for use.—Donald Maratin.

The way to make a clay bowl is to get some clay and pound it down until it is flat. Get some more clay and make coils. Then string the coils around the flat piece. You can use from five to eight coils, smoothing each one as you put it on. Let the bowl dry, then put it in the fire bin, glaze it, and there is your clay bowl! It can be very helpful around the house.—Terry Hammer.

These past few weeks the Sunset School shop has been fairly alive with activity in preparation for the annual kite festival which is to be held on March 19. Mr. Calley, our shop teacher, is the sponsor. The frames of many different kinds of kites are being hung around the walls of the shop. Some aare star-shaped, triangular, and many other different shapes. So, good luck to the winner!

—Dennis Mahar.

Every Monday we have after-school sports. Thirty-seven girls from the sixth and seventh grades take part. Each quarter we play a different game. The first quarter we played kick ball, the second, soccer, and now we are playing volley ball. During the last quarter we will play baseball.

All year we work for a Block S or a star. These are presented twice a year. Eleven blocks and one star were awarded this year.

—Peggy Weaver.

The basketball season has just finished with the Hot Rods winning the championship for the first and second half. Howard Roloff, captain, led his team to a fine finish. Howard also got a Block S. Members of his team are: Merle Pitman, John Chase, Don Sipes, Langdon Claypool. The team that caame in second was the Jet Jobs, with Allen Knight as captain. Third was the Leopards with Don Leidig as captain and last, the Aces with Richard Whitesides as captain. Baseball season will be starting soon and I hope many boys will be coming out for it.

—Allen Knight.

My home circus consists of a dog, a cat, and a tame duck, all in one yard. We own the dog, Sooty, and the duck, Quacky. The people who rent the downstairs own a black cat called Putty Cat. The dog, cat and duck all play and romp with each other as if they were humans. Sometimes they stage a mock fight, then they roll over and over biting and scratching, with wings flapping. Sometimes the dog will get the duck's head in his mouth and the duck will hang on to the dog's lip.

They also copy habits from each other. The cat sits in the wash bowl, turns on the water and then sits in it. The dog boxes like the cat and also roots in the ground like the duck. So they play and it is, and will continue to be, fun to watch them.—Don Leidig.

Our whole class regrets the leaving of Richard Whitesides, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Whitesides. He was well-liked by all and he was president of the student body for the first semester of school. He received a block and star in after-school sports and he was a patrol leader in Troop 86 in the Boy Scouts.

In Stockton he will go to a junior high school. Richard is twelve and he attended Sunset School all his life. We all hope he has a good time in Stockton.

—Howard Taggart.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Never Too Late To Learn

Cappy Miller's young son, Squint, is forever coming up with new ideas. Now they're not all world beaters, but Cappy is usually willing to give them a try.

Seems Squint found a new way to clear brush. They take two tractors, about thirty feet apart, and connect them with a heavy chain weighted down on the ground with old iron. First they both go parallel in one direction, then they go back over the same swath in the opposite direction and up comes the brush—roots and all. Worked fine and saved time.

That's why things go so well at the Miller farm. Cappy is open-minded, tolerant of new ideas and new ways of doing. He doesn't think his way is the only way.

From where I sit, a little tolerance will make things go better for all of us. You respect my views and I'll respect yours—whether it's on farming, politics, or choosing between an ice cream soda or a temperate glass of beer.

Hidden tank farm to keep 50,000 homes warm

Deep in the firs near Puget Sound one of the largest heating oil tank farms in the West is being built... and motorists passing by on the highway will never know it exists.

A large ring of trees has been left standing around the tanks to preserve the scenic beauty of the area; the farm itself will store 28,896,000 gallons of oil...enough to heat 50,000 homes all winter long.

Actually, the six tanks are not needed under normal weather and shipping conditions. They're being built at a cost of more than $1,000,000 to make certain there will be enough oil on hand to meet any emergency spell of unusually bad weather...to make certain the homes of the people we serve always will be warm. Similar expenditures are being made constantly in the important job of serving the West well.

Senior Class Presentation Of Jane Eyre A Whopping Success

BY MARY-MADELEINE RIDDLE

It sounded like an ambitious program for the senior class of Carmel High School to present the full fledged play of Jane Eyre, dramatized from Charlotte Bronte's novel by Jane Kendall. Those who saw the performance last Friday night at Sunset Auditorium will verify that it was that indeed, but an ambition amply fulfilled. Much as individual kudos are deserved by members of the cast, Mrs. Mariquita Derby Brey who directed the play really earned the big bouquet. Not only did she turn out a performance technically smooth and sure in terms of unfaltering pace, unmissed cues, and unforgotten lines, but she achieved with these young people a range of deep emotion and subtle detail which not only gave the audience an absorbing evening but must surely have enlarged the players' psychological insight.

Kathie von Meier, entirely suitable physically for the title role of Jane Eyre, had a measure of quietness and control which was remarkable and more significant in terms of professional poise than any arm waving could be. Bill Marquardt as Mr. Rochester brought surprising skill of inflection to his handling of the earlier scenes of this difficult gentleman and maturity of comprehension to the more emotional passages. Laurel Hildebrand in the many sides of the somewhat thankless role as Mrs. Fairfax, the housekeeper, showed a consistent subordination of herself to the play content which deserves special mention, though this kind of team work and consistency of the illusion was maintained throughout by the entire cast; not once did an ego step out of character.

Benita Updike as Leah, the maid, had a chance for more shenannigans than the others, but her delightful spontaneity was always tempered by cooperative restraint, and she never took advantage of the humor in her role to steal attention from other's lines. It should be noted, however, that this teamwork did not dim the fact that she has a remarkable ability to establish live contact with an audience.

Brief though the appearances of Jackie Briggs as Grace Poole were, she made her treks across stage and her short speeches so sinisterly significant that one was always aware of her presence in the mythical household when off stage.

As a matter of fact each of the minor roles was handled with competence. Ruth van Niel played Lady Ingram, Jennefer Lloyd her haughty daughter, Ardith Morrisseau the coquettish one; Gary Shaw was Mr. Wood, the clergyman; Dick Taplin was Mr. Mason; each did well by their parts. Special mention should go to Margot Campbell, who produced honest to goodness horror in the audience, as the mad wife, where mishandling could have meant giggles; to Julienne Poulichet, who gave a convincing portrayal of the young ward; and to Aram Tootelian, whose Oscar Wilde caricature of a visiting gentleman was so skillful in its brief moments that it brought spontaneous applause on his exit.

The one set for the play was well and simply done and the costumes were excellent without distracting from the drama, which sometimes happens with high school plays. Certainly a special bow should be made in the direction of those responsible for properties and effects and general stage management; I don't think I've ever seen a school play so flawlessly smooth in mechanics. Music by the Carmel High School orchestra under the direction of John Farr added its part to the moods so well sustained by the whole cast.

The Time Has Come . .

By Kippy Stuart

The habitat and variety of our shrubs is interesting and informative. Many shrubs that have become to us almost native, really hail from far places and are not intended to meet up with frost. The most popular and prevalent plant in this locality is the coprosma, commonly called looking-glass-plant, or mirror-plant. For years the coprosma has brightened our gardens, withstanding winter so well, that we took it for granted. To quote from Seymour's Garden Encyclopedia: "The coprosma is a tender shrub or tree, native to New Zealand, and can only be grown out doors in warm regions." So, what can you expect? Our plants that shrivelled in the face of January frost were perfectly within their rights. Don't blame the coprosma; blame ourselves for letting nature do handsprings with our climate.

There are several varieties of coprosma, each having its own spot in the garden. Coprosma baueria is an evergreen that attains the height of 25 feet, or higher, with glossy leaves, and orange-red berries. Baueria is an excellent shrub for dense hedges, that is if we keep our climate mild. Then there is coprosma acerose. He is a smaller fellow that can be used to fill in gaps. Acerose will listen to reason and not go rearing up higher than eight or ten feet. The third one is coprosma lucida, which comes between the other two; oh about 15 feet. The charm of lucida is the superb foliage with leaves five inches long, sturdy and evershining; excellent for flower arrangements.

We were by way of taking eugenias for granted, too. Haven't they lived with us, happily for lo, these many years and behaved themselves? Eugenia took a terrible beating this year. Well, why shouldn't they take a beating? The eugenia is a sub-tropical plant, grown in warm climates and is recommended only for sub-tropical locales. If we insist on taking chances by planting sub-tropical shrubs, we can be prepared for shocks. Eugenia uniflora (surinam cherry) is cultivated in warm parts of Mexico. It bears edible fruit called rose-apple. This fruit is used for jellies and preserves as it is full of pectin. Another variety of eugenia is, eugenia aromatica, and believe it or not, this shrub produces the clove of commerce. Who would think of trying to raise clove on this Peninsula?

What we call heather may not be heather at all. This is a most confusing family. The word "erica" means "heath"; the word "calluna" means "heather," two are wide apart as far as climate and culture go. Both varieties are clumped under the one head of ericaceae. That's okey for the book, but the trick is that variety erica will stand frost, where variety calluna gets its little bottom frozen. I have seen calluna heather this year with bark split from tip to toe, sap and life draining out of the plant. Once the bark of a tree or shrub has been completely split by frost, it's goodble to that plant.

Will some Scotchman step forward and inform us which variety is the "purple heather" of Scotland? That one should at least, bear the blizzard temperature of this locale.

TOTHEROH PLAY SCHEDULED

The Mountain Play Association will present as its 1949 offering at the Mount Tamalpais Amphitheater a new play by Dan Totheroh, Rough an' Ready. Opening the Marin County Centennial, the play will be given on Sunday, May 22, at 2 p. m.

The accent is on comedy in Rough an' Ready, which has to do with such famous historical characters as Bret Harte and H. P. T. Comstock (discoverer of the fabulous Comstock Lode), and their involvement with a Mormon, his seven wives and a theatrical troupe.

Totheroh will stage and direct the cast of Bay Area talent for the production which has been especially written for the Mountain Theatre.

ANNE FISHER

author of Cathedral in the Sun and The Salinas

PUBLISHED TODAY

OH GLITTERING PROMISE!

This is the story of Charles Morgan, a pick-and-shovel miner in the great '49 gold rush, and of the choice he was forced to make between his greedy wife Anne, and the lovely Maria, her generous, warm-hearted rival. Through Morgan's story Anne Fisher has painted an authentic, striking picture of men and women caught in the hopes and disappointments, the crudity, brutality, lawlessness—and occasional warm humanity—of life in the California gold fields.

Trio Wins Ovation At Woman's Club

It was a concert to make history in Carmel: the first chamber music recital in the new building of the Woman's Club. The simple, beautiful room was filled to capacity, and before the concert began the Carmel audience could be heard voicing appreciation of the surroundings, the atmosphere of quiet good taste achieved by the architect and those who worked with him.

The Pasquier Trio, already known to many of us by their playing at Noel Sullivan's home in Carmel Valley, consists of three brothers, Jean Pasquier, violin, Pierre Pasquier, viola, and Etienne Pasquier, cello. Born in France, these three distinguished musicians have played together for over twenty years, thus creating a rare and perfect ensemble so completely integrated as to function with a capacity beyond that of any of its separate members. In listening to this superb music on Friday night it seemed sometimes as though the impossible were taking place. Something beyond the strings was speaking. A trio is both less and more than a quartet. In a trio the tone is often purer and more flame-like. It soars so readily that it pulls away from the instruments and shines of its own accord. A quartet is more solid perhaps—one of the instruments frequently plays accompaniment, but in a trio they all sing and soar, contributing equally to the blending of pure tones.

Opening with the Deux Fantaisies of Purcell, played with swift, clear technique and then with such dalliance at times, just to give pure delight, and not to explain anything, the program proceeded, in the second part, into the long interesting and dynamic Trio of Villa-Lobos, the gifted Brazilian composer. Here was a challenge to musical comprehension, but the sheer magic of the playing, the masterly execution of all peculiar dissonances, and, to quote Gerard Manley Hopkins "the achieve of the thing" kept the audience breathless. The andante movement brought with it a totally new musical experience, departing as it did from familiar forms and creating, beyond beauty, a mysterious texture of its own. Several of the movements of the Villa-Lobos were angular and modern—with a free use of harmonics and the effects produced by unexpected rhythm and cross-cuts of swift contradictory attack, but the work as a whole played by this trio, who interpreted and gave it being, was an experience to be remembered.

After the intermission the beautiful Mozart Divertimento, with its sheer perfection and fineness, gave the deepest musical satisfaction to an audience nurtured in the classics. It was like coming home. How fresh and unfading is Mozart! How full of the spirit of delight! Never have we heard his music played with such complete genius: the cello singing its affirmation, the viola lifting its voice of mellowness to the fine flame-tones of the violin, the three instruments singing together with the utmost delicacy and freedom. We are deeply indebted to the Pasquier Trio and to those who organized the concert for this unforgettable experience.—D. H.

TWO CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL HOLDERS MEET

Sergeant Edward A. Bennett of the Fort Ord Recruiting Office this week welcomed the arrival of a fellow Congressional Medal of Honor man, Sergeant Arthur J. Jackson, formerly of the Marine Corps, and now living in Carmel.

The 24 year old sergeant brings to his Army retirement time 61 months in the Marines, 49 months of that in Pacific Ocean areas. It was as a Marine that Jackson won the Medal of Honor, highest award for bravery in action to be given by any branch of our armed forces.

During the Peleliu campaign dispatches from Marine Corps correspondents indicated that Sergeant Jackson took 15 bunkers and strong points in a single day's fighting. Wounded later at Bloody Nose Ridge and again at Okinawa, he was returned to the U. S., where on October 5, 1945, he was presented the Medal of Honor by President Truman in a ceremony on the White House Lawn.

Sergeant Bennett also was presented the Medal of Honor by President Truman in 1945, for his valorous action in Germany.

Sergeant Bennett, his wife and two youngsters, are living in Monterey.

Mrs. Beygrau Recalls Luther Burbank As Gentle, Shy Neighbor

A portrait of Luther Burbank as a gentle and simple man, a humanitarian, rather than a figure of austere genius was painted this week by Mrs. Paul Beygrau, Carmel resident for the past 19 years.

Mrs. Beygrau and her husband, the late Paul Beygrau, artist, were neighbors for a number of years of the famed horticulturist at his place in Santa Rosa. He enjoyed simple, intimate dinners with his friends, but shied off as soon as he learned there would be a crowd at any place and that he might be expected to be the "lion" of the evening.

Last week the entire state honored Luther Burbank, on the hundredth anniversary of his birth. His birthdate was March 8, 1849.

After leaving Santa Rosa, Mr. and Mrs. Begrau moved to Berkeley, where they designed and built a hillside mansion. For many years following that, Mr. Beygrau painted and his works were shown at all the nation's leading shows. Mrs. Beygrau is a sculptor in her own right, and has many fine works to her credit.

Do You Remember . . . ?

PARIS, 1910

By A. G. Warshawsky

Originally the Independents had been founded by a serious group of artists, who were precluded from exhibiting in the official salons on account of their too advanced conceptions. Soon this salon, however, degenerated into a show place for amateurs and weekend artists, ladies who showed portraits of their pet dogs and cats with blue ribbons round their necks, and misunderstood geniuses who filled vast canvases with symbolic and literary images. There were propaganda pictures, naively crude chromos of religious subjects, and strange sculptures done with pieces of stove pipe, bits of glass, shoe brushes, etc. Among these insane concoctions one occasionally came across a really striking piece of work by a competent artist, gifted with true originality and daring, such as could not be seen in any other salon. But these were oases in the desert of incompetence, inanity, and bad taste, which marked the productions of the "wild men" —the "fauves," as they were called.

Picabia, a front-rank fauve, one year exhibited a large framed canvas on which his friends had inscribed their names with little drawings, while in one corner was to be seen a human eye and various hieroglyphics. Another large canvas was painted entirely in black, except for one corner which contained two pairs of eyes with stark white eyeballs. This work was entitled "Two Negroes Fighting in a Cellar at Midnight." Another much discussed canvas showed the rulers and potentates of various countries clad in the primeval costumes of Adam and Eve—Kaiser Wilhelm with nothing but his famous moustache, Roosevelt in a wide horse-toothed grin, the Emperor of Abyssinia in shiny shoeblack polish, while Queen Wilhelmina of Holland exposed charms abdominal, which as the rhyme says "were something phenomenal." It was too clamorous a case of lese majeste to be allowed to survive the vernissage opening, and had to be taken down after a day of joyous success.

A very popular exhibitor at this salon was the famous Douanier Rousseau. I knew the old chap very well—a simple, naive soul, a primitive in the true sense, whose great dream was to be admitted into the official Salon des Artistes Francais, which, however, would have none of his work. The masters he most admired were Bougereau and Cerome, who are held in abhorrence by theose who have hailed the Douanier as a genius.

During his youth the Douanier had lived in Mexico, and memories of that colorful land filled his pictures with exotic plant forms. For his figures and nudes he never used a model, contenting himself with copying what he needed in that line from old magazines or newspapers. I once saw him painting a view of Paris with the Eiffel Tower in the center which he copied from an illustrated postcard. One of his works, which hung in his studio, never failed to give me joy. It was a picture he had been commissioned to do for a tradesman in his quarter, and purported to be a portrait of that gentleman with his newly wedded wife, while the image of his first spouse was inset among billowing clouds in an upper corner of the picture. "Quel sentiment, hein?" exclaimed its author when he showed it to me.

The Pere Rousseau also gave lessons in music, mandolin, violin, and flute, the instruments which he taught. From time to time there would be a "soiree musicale" given by his pupils at his studio in the Rue Texel. To reach it he had to climb up a narrow wooden ladder to the first floor of a rickety old building. On these occasions pupils, parents, and admiring friends would provide refereshments after the manner of a bottle party. When leading his student orchestra,

CARMEL DISCOVERED
(Or The Last Fairy Lantern)

Where now this awkard building leers
There used to be an oakling wood—
A leisured path ran through the trees
And groups of fairy-lanterns stood

Swaying their pearls along the breeze;
The delicate grasses, gold and white,
All with their morning crystals hung
Shimmered above them in the light.

Thrilled with discovery, we who came
Gave wide-flung wordage to our joy:
The pathways widened into roads
And builders hastened to destroy.

Now where the quail enticed their trailing brood
The mindless highways speed—
The crowded houses slay the singing wood,
The wild-flower and the weed.

Moral:

Learn this from beauty: Silence is divine.
Unword the tongue. Be shadow. Give no sign.

—Constance Early.

STORM

Across the dark mesa of heaven
He spurs thru the night
Shouting thunder;
His lightning riata
Flows in fiery loops
Black Angus clouds.

Still bright in its orbit,
The moon is a gold coin
El Gaucho will spend
When the roundup is over.

—Natalie Flohr.

APOSTOLIC LINES

Wherever strong men grieve and sicken,
Lean with lone hunger, hot with thirst,
With their sole illness I am stricken,
With their disaster I am cursed.

I cannot pass a beggar reaching
His pathetic hands for alms;
I hear my voice with his beseeching
Pennies for my empty palms.

No man can dwell apart, alone,
Remote from his humanity,
One fundamental fact is known:
Whoever serves his fellow, he
Performs his services for me.

Our Trusteeship

By Jane Vial

Students of the School of Naval Administration were last week privileged to hear two addresses delivered by Dr. C. Easton Rothwell, vice chairman of the Hoover Institute & Library on War, Revolution and Peace. Former executive secretary of the International Secretariat at the San Francisco conference of the UN, Dr. Rothwell later served as secretary general of the American delegation during the latter part of 1945 and in 1946.

Since the United States Navy holds trusteeship over the islands taken from Japan during the war, Dr. Rothwell's lectures were of great significance to these men who are selected for post-graduate training in administration.

The subject of his first talk was Current Trusteeship Problems. To begin with, Dr. Rothwell pointed out that the trusteeship system of the United Nations has gone much farther than the mandate system of the League of Nations ever went. In the three years since January, 1946, when the system started to come into being, its accomplishments have really been quite great and quite important.

The present system goes beyond the League in that it provides for much more complete protection of non-self-governing areas and implies far greater obligation to advance their peoples toward self-government, or independence, and to improve their standards of welfare.

To implement these provisions, the UN has power that the League never held—that is, to send visiting commissions in to inspect conditions and make reports and recommendations. The first of such missions just recently returned with a report on two territories in East Africa, and the Trusteeship Council is now in session reviewing the results of this mission. In its report the commission stated, for instance, that it felt that advancement toward self-government was not proceeding rapidly enough and suggested ways of speeding it up.

While the only sanctions applicable are those of public opinion, Dr. Rothwell stated that by and large most countries have complied with the recommendations of such missions.

Strategic trusteeships must be approved by the Security Council, while non-trategic ones are approved by the General Assembly. Our trusteeship, under the Navy, over the Carolines, Marianas and Marshalls was approved in April, 1947, by the Security Council. It has all the provisions that apply to other territories, with three distinctions:

We have stated that we will want to close off part of our territory for security reasons; this may interfere with the right of inspection carried out by others.

We have reserved for ourselves special commercial and other economic privileges. Such is not the case, usually, in other trusteeships.

We have reserved the right to control traffic over these areas.

Completely new is the declaration of principles concerning non-colonial areas in the UN Charter.

Mandatory reports by the administrators of trust territories have had a very salutary influence, because they have, in many cases, shown up certain weaknesses to which publicity has then been directed. For instance, in the Belgian trusteeship of Ruanda-Rundi, it was shown that there were only 35 doctors for four million people. In reviewing the report, the Trusteeship Council called upon the Belgian Government to take steps to increase the number of doctors and the available medical facilities.

The right of petition is available to inhabitants of these trust territories, and the Security Council has so far received over 100 petitions, ranging all the way from an individual to a group or nation. As an example, the inhabitants of Western Samoa, under trusteeship of New

Another New Citizen

The population of Carmel was augmented last week by the arrival of Bradbury Arnold Meiners at the Community Hospital on March 8. He is the first child for his happy parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Meiners of Hatton Fields.

His grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bradbury of Phoenix and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Meiners of Calistoga. Mrs. Bradbury was on hand to welcome her grandson.

Audubon Meeting

Tonight at 8 p. m. in Sunset School cafeteria, the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society will hold its regular meeting. Final plans will be made for the California Audubon convention to be held at Asilomar, April 1 to 3. At this convention the local society will act as hosts. At 8:30 the meeting will be open to the public. Mrs. P. G. Paca of Pacific Grove will speak about the birds she saw in England on her recent trip to that country.

Missionary Society

The Carmel Missionary Society will meet on Tuesday, March 22, at 2:30 p. m. in the social hall of the Church of the Wayfarer, at which time the guest speaker will be Abbas P. Seymour, chairman of the Persian Department of the Language School at the Monterey Presidio.

The Society has a combined membership from the Church of the Wayfarer and All Saints' Church and is the oldest women's organization in Carmel.

Mrs. Howard Timbers will present the devotions, and Mrs. Alton Walker will be tea hostess. Co-chairmen of the society are Mrs. C. G. Strickland and Mrs. Grace C. Howden.

Anyone interested, men as well as women, is cordially invited to attend the meeting.

Wayfarer Auxiliary

The impersonation of Hyman Kaplan by Miss Grace McKay delighted the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of the Wayfarer at the meeting on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Kaplan was a Russian Jewish immigrant whose struggles with the American language and idiom gave amazing results in the adult class in New York preparing foreigners for citizenship. Undaunted by his errors and the criticisms of his classmates, Hymie overflowed with love for America and his fellowmen. Miss McKay's reading was repeated by request, from her program given before the Auxiliary last year.

A salad luncheon at 12:30 brought together some sixty-odd members for the monthly meeting conducted by Mrs. Walter Kreisler, president, with Mrs. P. M. Bigelow, program chairman, introducing Miss McKay. Devotions were given by Mrs. John C. Pierson, who, having concluded her talk, told of her joy at returning to Carmel after two years' absence, and read a little poem in which she expressed her love for the place. Mrs. K. Fillmore Gray sang three delightful solos, Russian Cradle Song, Think of Me, and I Know A Lovely Garden, with Miss Margaret Aitkenhead as accompanist.

Mrs. Kreisler announced Miss Lucy Valpey would present the next organ vespers on Wednesday. Sewing for overseas relief continues on the second and fourth Thursday afternoons, and helpers and garments for mending or remodeling are needed.

Mrs. Grace C. Howden, co-chairman of the Carmel Missionary Society announced the meeting at the Church of the Wayfarer next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Mrs. J. W. Paterson, chairman of the calling committee, reported on members who are ill. Friends of Miss Helen Pierce were requested to send her birthday greetings at the Community Hospital where she is confined with a broken leg.

Mrs. D. E. Nixon, for home missions, reported that Mrs. Nellie Montague had offered to appraise the extensive Indian collection recently donated by Miss Mary Smith to be sold, the proceeds to be used for Indian relief. Mrs. Montague will contact the Smithsonian Institution as a probable buyer of the more important articles in the collection. However, before it is sold, the collection will be put on exhibition in the church social hall. Miss Agnes Williston reported that Dr. George Thorne had taken with him to Africa more than five pounds of old Christmas cards contributed by Auxiliary members for use in the leper mission. He also took the supply of bandages which the group working on the first Tuesdays has made in recent months for the American Mission to Lepers.

Mrs. Kreisler introduced Mrs. James Pope, who will heareafter work as co-chairman for the luncheons with Mrs. Guy L. Kell, who has had charge up to this time. Mrs. Kell's assistants for this week's luncheon were Mrs. Sue Raymond, Mrs. Howard Timbers, Mrs. Raymond Smith, Mrs. Ola Love, Mrs. Louis Sawyer, and Mrs. W. de Adlershelm. The delicious meal and the program were greatly enjoyed.

Republican Women Meet

Members of the Monterey Peninsula Republican Women and their guests met at Sunset School on March 8, at which time reports were received from precinct chairmen and block captains on the results of the canvass now being made to ascertain how many voters or future voters are registered and to determine why many citizens did not vote in the last election. An original and humorous skit portraying possible situations encountered by interviewers in the survey was given by Mrs. Harry B. Gantt and Mrs. Nora Law.

Mrs. Karl W. Hisken, president, gave an informative talk on conditions in the U. S. today. She also mentioned, in explaining the canvass, the future uses of the information recorded on cards without signatures.

Guest speaker at the meeting was Dr. Mast Wolfson, local heart specialist, who gave an interesting talk to his audience, discussing, alaso, a book on obesity.

The Republican Women will meet again in April, and in May will hold their annaual metting.

HOW MANY COAST JOBS WERE BORN

Pacific Telephone's construction program has made work for countless thousands and added to the West's postwar prosperity

1. When you see telephone cable on its way to work, you're watching the West benefit in two important ways. It means new voice highways for the West . . . more telephones . . . better service. It also means jobs and paychecks for the men who make the cable, those who install it and, later on, those who maintain it. And putting in new cable is just a small part of our building program.

2. Hundreds of new buildings mean work for carpenters, bricklayers—and work for those who provide the materials. They mean future jobs for telephone people. Since the war, we've put half a billion dollars to work in new construction. Much of it has found its way in ever-widening circles into the economy of practically every city and town in the West.

3. More business for the baker, the druggist, the clothier — telephone construction has given the West a big postwar lift. There's no way, of course, to trace all the jobs created by just one mile of cable . . . or one building. But it would probably be hard to find a family whose income has not benefited, in some way, from the money we've spent to provide more service.

4. It all adds up — this tremendous building program — to a better West for all of us. It is being paid for by thousands of investors who have provided the millions of new working dollars that make the job possible. Result: More telephones . . . better service. Yet a few pennies still buy a telephone call — one of your real values today.

Do You Remember . . . ?

the old Douanier was prouder than ever he was when showing his pictures. But I must admit that I preferred his painting to his music, for it took considerable courage to sit out one of his concerts.

Rousseau at that time had a small coterie of admirers, who would buy his pictures, for which the usual price was from twenty to fifty francs. Only rarely did it reach three figures. Leading his humble existence in the poorest of surroundings, he could afford only the cheapest colors and canvases. After his death the dealers got hold of his pictures, and they fetched tremendous prices. One of his largest canvases now hangs in the Louvre.

Zealand, petitioned for greater measures of self-government. The Council sent a mission to investigate, and New Zealand carried out its recommendations before the Security Council was required to act.

Dr. Rothwell's second lecture was concerned with current trends in the developement of the United Nations, with particular reference to President Truman's inaugural speech and his statement concerning the plight of great masses of the world's population living in sub-standard conditions.

Our skills and scientific advances are needed in the countries and the U. S. Commission on Economic Development has teams in the field to assist individual countries to improve their techniques of doing things. Progress will be greatly accelerated now that our representative in the Council has called upon the UN to take on the job.

While the Declaration of Human Rights, passed by the General Assembly in December, does not have the legal significance of our Bill of Rights, it is remarkable because it is the first time in history that nations all over the world were able to agree, in spite of religious and economic difference. It is, at least, a first stage in the development of a universal Bill of Rights.

One of the most important developments is the tensions project of UNESCO concerning the tensions which lead to war. At present a substantial research program is being conducted by teams of the finest social scientists in the world. Using the most advanced methods of interviewing and polling, these teams are making a scientific analysis of attitudes and the transmission of prejudices and have already made special studies of some eight communities in various countries.

The program is not one of pure research alone, but is intended to end up in recommendations as to what can be done to change peoples' attitudes and to provide attitudes less conduicive to war.

Hopes for finding peace on a universal collective basis have diminished during the last three years, Dr. Rothwell stated, and consequently there have been numerous changes in the methods of trying to find world security through the UN.

In order to cope with the split between Russia and the West the U. S. has taken three principal steps. We have taken measures independently of the UN, as in the Greek and Turkish matters, both of which were designed to build strength where there is weakness. We have resorted to regional pacts, such as the North Atlantic pact and the earlier Rio pact; such regional alignments, however, are actually provided for in the Charter. Lastly, we are attempting to change the machinery of the UN to eliminate application of the veto where it can be done. The Interim Committee (Little Assembly) has recommended some 35 steps on which it is believed the veto can be dropped. In addition, we are showing an inclination to take into the Assembly, where there is no veto, such matters as would ordinarily come before the Security Council, in the hope that the weight of public opinion will further the accomplishment of our aims.

Whether or not these steps will bring Russia around or alienate her further remains to be seen.

Dr. Rothwell has a rare quality of being able to transmit to his audience his own keen interest and enthusiasm for a subject on which he is eminently qualified to speak.

Carmel skiing enthusiasts were out in force last weekend at Badger Pass—and who broke his leg? Carmel's expert, naturally: Francis Whitaker. Who broke his skis and sprained an ankle? Fatal Wedding Well Done And Lots Of Fun At First Theatre

By Jane Vial

If you haven't been to the First Theatre for a long time, as I hadn't, you are apt to forget the small miracles of staging and production which take place on that postage-stamp stage.

Now running, The Fatal Wedding, adapted and rewritten by Irene Alexander, is melodrama in the best style—suitably syrupy, full of suspense, and combining pathos and near-tragedy in a way which somehow always has the opposite effect on the audience.

Under the able direction of Freeman Sargent, who also plays a thoroughly contemptible villain, the cast goes through a fast paced drama of the betrayal of innocence, mounting crisis and and the final triumph of virtue when the wronged Mrs. Asmurn is reunited with her husband and little ones through the efforts of her dear and faithful friends.

Barbara Beckett and Douglas Louthit turned in touching performances in the leading roles of the Horace Asburns, and Pat Trevvett was a wonderfully lush hussy right to her dying breath. Betty Bass was outstanding in her role of the Ashburn's Irish maid, but an excellent performance was given by the whole cast, which included Carmen Mercante, Alex Olivetti, Judy Navarro, Jon Olivetti, Roland Scheffler, Pop Smith, Don Stone and Donna Powers..

During the Olio it's hard to tell whether the cast or the audience is having more fun, but the olio following Fatal Wedding is guaranteed to give you a lot of good laughs. I, for one, would have been sorry to miss Freeman Sargent's turn as The Greatest Actor.

The tinkly piano played by Lucy Valpey runs along with just the right old sentimental numbers or slinks into mood music for heroine, villain or for almost any virtue you can name.

Designed and executed by Rhoda Johnson, the costumes are, as always, gay and amusing and perfectly in keeping with the drama. The sets by Freeman Sargent, Sara Sargent and Barbara Beckett have an air of hysteria about them and do incredibly wonderful things to the tiny stage.

A bouquet to the Denny-Watrous Management and the Troupers of The Gold Coast for The Fatal Wedding. It will be running on Saturday nights during March and on Saturday and Sunday nights during April and May, so hie yourself over to the First Theatre in Monterey for an evening of good fun.

Owl Feature Player In Audubon Movie

A large and appreciative audience enjoyed the lecture and film shown last Saturday night by Allan D. Cruickshank at Sunset auditorium in the current series of nature programs sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society. Trails for the Millions, as it was called, showed the great variety of wild life to be seen in winter and summer within an hour's drive of Times Square, New York City, all of the films taken by Mr. Cruickshank in his work for the National Audubon Society.

The whole range of nature's creatures supplied actors for the show, birds, insects, flowers and trees, reptiles, young fawns and their mothers, beavers at work building homes and dams, all within reach of interested residents of the big city. Chuckles greeted the little owls that in turn, solemnly winked one eye at the audience, and the pushing out from the shell of feathered babies was a neverending source of pleasure. The way that the larger wild birds have come back to the area under protection by law, after near extinction, pointed up the service of the Audubon Society in conservation of natural resources. Ferdinand Ruth, of the Monterey College science faculty, introduced the speaker.

Time to start thinking about crisp cottons again, and of course that means a trip to HARRIET DUNCAN'S. There's a grand array of the newest — imported Rockinchair cottons! Pert little numbers designed really to be lived in, they come in two smart styles. The strictly tailored one-piecers are perfect for anything from a golf outfit to a house dress. Neat as a pin, they feature action back and sleeves, too, for your comfort. And those adorable two-piece Rockinchairs! Three-quarter sleeves with a nipped in back, they sport a saucy little kick pleat skirt. So young, so gay, and cute as a bug to wear, Rockinchairs come in fine, smooth cotton and also in seersucker. Bright spring colors make 'em as pretty as they are practical, at the budget wise price of only $12.95. Go down to HARRIET DUNCAN'S on Lincoln and Sixth, and have a look at Rockinchairs.

Spring housecleaning and a fresh coat of paint are the reasons the VILLAGE CORNER has been closed for the past week, but it won't be much longer, now! Next Wednesday morning, March 22, at 8:30, the doors will re-open and you can again enjoy an impromptu snack in the spick 'n' span surroundings of the VILLAGE CORNER.

What better way to let people know that yours is a house of cheerful atmosphere and spring gaiety than by having lots of greenery about the place? House plants and greens are featured at FLOR DE MONTEREY, where you'll find just the right bit of brightness for any room or occasion. And don't you know some shut in or sick friend who would welcome the sight of a lovely potted plant to liven the weary hours? Every sort of decoration for your home is to be had at FLOR DE MONTEREY — caladium, with its fancy leaves, lacy ferns, variegated ivy, and loads more. Brighter colors, too, peek from potes of azaleas and bowls filled with gay cut flowers. FLOR DE MONTEREY is the place for simply everything in the way of plants aand blossoms. 217 Franklin street in Monterey, phone 7885.

Balmy spring breezes turn one's fancy to thoughts of beauty—beautiful hair, we mean. The POWDER PUFF BEAUTY SHOPPE is right on the job, ready to serve you with a new addition to the shop's personnel. It's Leon! For the first time there is a man on the staff of experts, and a welcome addition, too. An all around operator, Leon is particularly interested in permanent waving and tinting. His specialties are cuts and styling. Drop in soon and let Leon or any of the rest of the charming staff at the POWDER PUFF give you the newest in spring hairdos.

"Lovely ladys," they'll say when they see you in a dress of the season's newest, gayest silk print from PUTNAM AND RAGGETT. And "Lovely!" you'll exclaim when you see this beautiful pure silk yardage, just in. Designs galore for all occasions feature every variety of printed figure. Such shades, too! One gorgeous print we saw had a striking darkish green background with touches of red and other bright colors to highlight the pattern throughout. There are pure silk polka dots in the smartest of colors — brown, red, blue, aqua, and ping—all with white dots. Also an exotic shocking pink dot on navy blue. Practical as can be, of course, for what better way to stretch a budget than by whipping up an outfit or two yourself? The prints are $2.95 a yard and the polka dots $2.65. See 'em right away and pick out your favorites at PUTNAM AND RAGGETT, San Carlos and Ocean.

The writings of Anne Fisher, well-known local author, hold special interest for Peninsula residents, and we're going to be more than interested in her newest novel, O, Glittering Promise, available now at the VILLAGE BOOKSHOP. A fascinating story of early California Gold Rush days, the book combines vivid history with a moving tale of gold camp life—the danger, excitement, and flambouyancy of the day. Oh, Glittering Promise, includes a love story, too, woven into a great dramatic novel of vigorous appeal. Publication date of the book is today, March 18, by Bobbs-Merrill. A must for your reading list, the new Anne Fisher novel is to be had for $3.00 at the VILLAGE BOOKSHOP, Ocean and Dolores.

CANDLES OF CARMEL has come forth with something to really cheer about! It's the new "petrified" floral arrangements that are as unique as they are beautiful. Striking combinations to suit your individuality will make you enthusiastic, too, for you can arrange them however you like, and they'll never wilt. Perfect for centerpieces, end tables—everything! Unusual designs colored in all-over pastel or brighter shades to suit any decor, the flowers come in all sizes, too. Clay is included to mold and hold 'em. Oh! These floral arrangements are so unusual you'll simply have to see them for yourself at CANDLES OF CARMEL, Golden Bough Court, just across from the Pine Inn.

Chocolate Easter bunnies and gaily colored eggs are what your young 'uns will be scurrying after, come that long-awaited holiday. The CARMEL DELICATESSEN'S way ahead of them though. Already the windows are being decorated with those mouth-watering chocolate eggs, bright colored candy eggs, and even chocolate bunnies. Easter baskets, as well as plastic eggs ready to be filled, too. And here's wonderful news from the CARMEL DELICATESSEN! It's the special wrapping and mailing service for those Easter packages—Chocolate and mixed Easter candy done in gay holiday wrap. You'll want to take advantage of this service, so drop in at the CARMEL DELICATESSEN at Ocean and Mission for all your Easter needs.

Pine Needles

Fashions Viewed

Spring seemed to walk right into the Pine Inn Garden Room Wednesday with the attractive group of clothes shown by the Country Shop for the third fashion show of the season.

Miss Mary Rodin first appeared in a breathtaking evening gown of satin striped taffeta in tones of gray, rose and mauve. The tightly fitting bodice of the slightly off-shoulder gown contrasted with the skirt, on which huge folds were gathered at the back in a bustle-like effect, the backward movement being accentuated by horizontal stripes.

A perfect ensemble for both spring and summer was modeled by Mrs. J. Clancy, who wore a navy and white print dress with a navy wool coat. The fitted coat had cleverly slenderizing lines but would be flattering to any figure.

A crisp two piece suit dress of cotton cord, worn by Mrs. Robert Kvenild, looked very summery.

A stunning red coat was shown by Miss Rodin, under which she wore a navy crepe dress with the new treatment for a sleeveless garment. The effect is almost that of an off-shoulder dress, and this particular one had a band of white contrasting with the navy. The coat, fitted and belted, had deep armholes (so good over suits) and a full, graceful skirt.

A smartly tailored tweed suit in a blue and white check pattern, worn with a blue cashmere sweater, had all the blessings of a tweed suit without the usual bulkiness. The skirt of the suit was pencil-slim with small slits at the side seams, and the jacket was a masterpiece of simplicity.

Mary Rodin again showed an evening gown, this time drawing oh's and ah's from the audience. Of Lime chiffon, the dress had intricate shirring on the bodice and a halter neckline deftly cut for the most flattering lines. The soft, flowing skirt was caught at one side of the waist with a bunch of coral-red flowers.

A three piece beach suit of srtiped glazed chintz turned out, surprisingly, to be a seagoing number. The outfit had straight-cut shorts, a sensible halter and a boxy coat with back fullness which might be used with other things.

Miss Ellen Leeds, commentator, wore a Mangone suit whose longish jacket had unusual pocket interest and looked exceedingly smart.

Business Association Meets

There was a good turnout for the Carmel Business Association's quarterly dinner meeting Thursday night at the Legion Hall, at which time members heard Dan Totheroh describe the pageant to be presented as a feature of the Centennial celebration. Mr. Totheroh, guest speaker of the evening, is the director for the pageant.

Members agreed to a campaign for a separate listing or prefix to distinguish Carmel numbers when the new telephone dial system is installed. This plan, however, was subsequently found unfeasible. According to Mark Raggett, president, and Al Fry, secretary, a conference with David Muri, local telephone company manager, convinced them that such a distinction is unworkable.

The Association voted to request the City Council to petition the State Highway Commission for directional signs on Highway 101 at the Prunedale-Castroville cut-off and at Salinas.

Unusual and lovely spring decorations were contributed by Edward Kincaid, art instructor of the high school.

Crafts Guild

The executive board of the Carmel Crafts Guild met on March 15 at the home of Marian Brueck to consider designs for Guild insignia which have been submitted. Chosen by the board for redesign and final judgment were the designs of Claude Wolf and Barbara Wasserman.

Plans are under way, it was announced, for the display of Crafts Guild members' work in the lobby of La Playa Hotel.

Class Sees Weston Photos

Last Friday evening a group of Leota Tucker's Photography Class went to Edward Weston's studio in Carmel Highlands to enjoy his rare color slides. The magnificent ten by twelve slides were shown directly without projection. Especially notable were his Point Lobos and Death Valley scenes. After showing the color slides, Mr. Weston passed around the striking black and white prints which remain his "first love."

Peninsula Stamp Club

The Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club held a Quiz Show meeting at Sunset School on March 7, with the prize going to Captain William A. Foote. The quiz was conducted by Colonel John Wright, president. Miss Parmann and Loring Moy won the door prizes.

Arch Gibson presented the club with volumes one and two of the 19the Century Postage Stamps of the U. S., by G. Brookman.

There will be an auction at the next club meeting, to be held in the library of Sunset School on March 21 at 8 p. m.

Andrew Stewart

Carmel Valley lost one of its pioneer ranchers with the death of Andrew Stewart Saturday morning. He was 79 years of age, and a native of Grantham, Canada.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Catherine R. Stewart of Carmel Valley; a daughter, Mary Elizabeth Stewart of San Francisco, and a sister, Mrs. Robert Leidig of Carmel. Also surviving are three half-brothers, W. E. Martin and Roy Martin of Carmel Valley and Carmel Martin of Monterey.

Private services were held, with Paul's Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

TO PLAY FOR VESPERS

Annie G. Vaughan has returned to Carmel and will again play at Vespers at the Church of the Wayfarer beginning Wednesday, March 23.

Girl Scout News

Good news for Peninsula Girl Scouts was contained in a report outlining plans for the established camp which will be held at Big Sur Park from June 12 through June 26. Thirty girls can be accommodated each week, and reservations will be accepted through the troop leaders for one week each. Plans have also been completed for the Brownie Day camp.

The Carmel Girl Scout Council met with Mrs. Arthur Johnson, organization chairman for the Monterey Peninsula, on March 9, when plans were discussed for the Area picnic to be held at the Monterey County Fair Grounds April 24.

At the meeting Mrs. Ray Sutton, Mrs. Kay Dunning and Mrs. Lloyd Miller were chosen for the nominating committee to select nominations for the officer to be presented at the Carmel District meeting in April.

The Girl Scouts are this week celebrating their thirty-seventh birthday in honor of Juliette Low, fouder of the Girl Scoutes.

The Girl Scouts on the island of Guam are in need of uniforms, and the Carmel Council urges anyone having an outgrown uniform to turn it in for the Guam Scouts.

Present at the meeting March 9 were Mesdames Julaan von Meier, E. R. Elliott, Ray Sutton, George C. Bestor, Kay Dunning, Lloyd H. Miller, John J. Walsh, H. Reyburn, R. W. Martineau, Robert Vallon and Arthur Johnson.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Matter" is the subject of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, March 20, with the Golden Text taken from Jeremiah: "Truly in vain is salvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains: truly in the Lord our God is the salvation of Israael" (3:23).

The following citations are included in the sermon:

The Bible: "And David put his hand in his bag, and took thence a stone, and slang it, and smote the Philistine in his forehead, that the stone sunk into his forehead; and he fell upon his face to the earth. So David prevailed over the Philistine with a sling and with a stone, and smote the Philistine, and slew him; but there was no sword in the hand of David" (I Samuel 17: 49, 50).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The theories I combat are these: (1) that all is matter; (2) that matter originates in Mind, and is as real as Mind, possessing intelligence and life. The first theory, that matter is everything, is quite as reasonable as the second, that Mind and matter coexist and cooperate. One only of the following statements can be true: (1) that everything is matter; (2) that everything is Mind. Which one is it?" (p. 269).

Symphony Orchestra Concert Reviewed

By Eben Whittlesey

A young soloist and a young orchestra joined forces on Tuesday evening in Sunset Auditorium to present a program which attained a high standard of musicianship. The largest audience which has attended a concert of the Monterey County Symphony, under the joint direction of Clifford Andersoon and Lorell McCann, turned out to hear John Price, the highly talented fifteen-year-old Pacific Grove student play the Mendelssohn Capriccio Brillant on a program from which half the proceeds will go to the fund being raised by the Carmel Lions Club, for installation of radiant heating equipment at the new Carmel High School swimming pool.

The orchestra showed that it had taken another long step forward in the steady improvement which has characterised its development for the past two years. It has begun to have that indefinable attribute which musicians refer to a "Quality". There is also apparent a much greater consistency in the work of the players under their two conductors, which is a mark of adaptability and cohesiveness in the group as a whole. Under the baton of Mr. Anderson the program opened with the Mendelssohn Ruy Bals Overture, a very effective first number in which the unity and security of tone and timing of the brass and percussion departments were notable. Good attack and phrasing was evident throughout, while slight deficiencies in the string sections were ironed out in later selections. The strings are firmer and better drilled than in the past, and their dynamics are well controled, but there is still room for greater power.

Two movements, the largo and finale, from the ever popular New World Symphony of Dvorak, drew enthusiastic response from the audience. The largo was particularly well done, opening with a fine solo on the English horn recently purchased for the orchestra by the Symphony Association. The strings maintained a fine consistent texture throughout passages of thin instrumentation. The last movement, which presented greater technical problems in rhythm and attack was not as effective, but well handled on the whole.

John Price as piano soloist in the Mendelssohn Capriccio Brillant played with an easy, relaxed style and musical understanding remarkable for an artist of his age. Tis technique was very good, and he seemed surprisingly well at ease with the orchestra, which for its part, gave the most effective performance it has turned in when working with a soloist. The orchestra appeared to keep its pace and rhythm well, without requiring noticeable concessions from the pianist, and for the most part, avooided blanketing him with too much volume.

In the second part of the program, under the leadership of Mr. McCann, the orchestra opened with a very satisfactory rendition of two dances from The Bartered Bride, by Smetana. While the rhythm was a little heavy at times, dynamics were well controlled and uniform. Trumpet passages were very effective, while the improvement in the string section over previous concerts was quite apparent.

Wlather's prize song from Die Meistersingers, arranged by Alfred Hertz provided a colorful and familiar selection, well played on the whole. Possibly due to the arrangement used, the work seemed a little heavy and lacking in vitality.

With considerable courage for so young an orchestra, the group played the Capriccio Italien by Tschaikowsky. The works entails rhythmic problems and difficult entrances, which were well executed in general, although at times the feeling was sluggish, and for the first time in the evening one had the impression that players were groping their way and lacking in assurance.

The final selection was the Emperor Waltz of Strauss, with its familiar themes and compelling movement, withch lieft the audience anxious for an encore. Execution was smooth and the balance of parts well maintained, but the interpretation could have had a little more fire, particularly as a closing piece. On the whole, one came away with the impression that this orchestra may be counted on in the future with a consistently high and constantly improving standard of musicianship.

cludes both local and national services of the Red Cross, is unusually low when compared to the great amount of service received locally through the Red Cross, Mr. Jenkins points out. All financial assistance for emergency and special needs which cannot be otherwise met are provided for through chapter funds, as well as part-time housekeeping aid needed on a temporary basis by infirm or ill persons not able to provide for it themselves. Free blood is constantly available for anyone needing a transfusion because of accident or serious illness. Ambulance service has been provided for years through volunteer firemen and chapter funds taking care of all costs. A new fully-equipped ambulance has been ordered and will be delivered soon. With the completion of the high school pool, a water safety program will be launched, with training of instructors provided through the chapter. Carmel Red Cross continues to help with the recreational needs of the patients at Fort Ord Station Hospital through the services of Gray Ladies and funds for equipment and supplies.

The large production room in the back of the chapter house is busy every day turning out huge quantities of clothing, hospital supplies, and knitted articles to meet requests for help from any part of the country. Chapter funds provide for training of young people in camps and conferences of the Junior Red Cross. There are many types of instruction offered, recruitment of nurses for polio and disaster, and disaster-preparedness planning. Through the Red Cross your gift makes all these and many other services possible. When you give, it is you who helps to save lives and relieve suffering.

William Ritschel

William Ritschel, internationally famed marine painter, died last Friday night at his Carmel Highlands home after a long period of failing health. He was 85 years of age.

He was born in Nuremberg, Germany, where he received his first art instruction and come to the United States in 1895. He came to Carmel in 1909 and built his home at the Highlands at that time.

Mr. Ritschel had a distinguished career and was the only American painter to be awarded the Ranger prize three times from the National Academy of Design. Among the many organizations he belonged to was the National Academy.

Long a member of the Carmel Art Gallery, his one-man shows there during the years attracted lovers of fine art from all over.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Nora Havel Ritschel. Private services were held at his home Tuesday afternoon with Dr. K. Fillmore Gray officiating. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

John Tyler Joins Edward Kuster In Greenroom Project

Edward Kuster is about to expand his activities in the Golden Bough Playhouse. As he has already announced the summer school, suspended at the beginning of the late war, will resume in the summer of 1949, and plans for a summer season of plays, to be produced on the lines of summer stock, are already well advanced.

John Tyler who is currently appearing as Dickie Winslow in the Winslow Boy, has joined the Golden Bough Playhouse organization and is actively engaged at the present moment in the direction of the theater. Among the many new ideas about to be put into practice, is the transformation of the Green Room into an experimental theater. Here, local writers will be encouraged to bring their plays for a hearing and if a jury considers them good enough, the plays will be cast and read before an invited audience. It is hoped that in this way a certain amount of good will be done both for the local talent and in a small way comparatively speaking, for drama and the theater as a whole.

John Tyler has recently arrived with his wife and two children from London, England, where he was on the staff of the British Broadcasting Corporation. During the late war he was with the Scottish Highland Division and the Parachute Regiment. Hospitalized in 1943 he was seconded to the British Legation at Beirut where he took up the appointment of assistant press attache. By profession a journalist, his feet have always strayed towards the theater and he has had consderable amateur stage experience in acting and production, while at school and immediately following.

Pasquier Trio And Shehatovich Play Brahms G Minor

Monday evening at Hollow Hills Farm one of those things happened that occur but seldom in life! The Pasquier Trio, who had been house guests of Noel Sullivan since their concert at the Carmel Woman's Club last Friday, offered to do a program in his music room for him and a few of his friends.

It was an eleventh hour invitation, but a few of those asked were fortunate enough to have the evening free and will never forget the great music they heard flawlessly performed in the informality of so intimate a gathering: the Beethoven Trio in C minor and compositions written especially for the Pasquier brothers by Roussell and Francais.

It was after these that the visiting artists suggested doing a piano quartet with Stephanie Shehatovich. The Brahms G. minor was the only music available, and though Miss Shehatovich had never seen it before, nor had these artists ever played with her, together they achieved a miraculous ensemble.

The pianist has consequently become the only artist in the West who has had the opportunity to play with these fabulously gifted musicians. They, in turn, were most admiring of her skill and increidble "sight-reading" ability.
